om the Atlantic Monthly for March. ! SIGHING FOR THE SEA.

Black lie the hills, swiftly doth daylight flee And, catching glemms of super's dying smile, Through the dusk land for many a changing mile The rivet runneth softly to the sea.

O happy tiver could I follow thee! O rearping hear, that never can be will! O while even that wetch the steadfast bill, bright for level line of solema sea!

Have nationed; here are flowers and songs of birds. Bestly and fragentee, wealth of sound and sight, All enumer's girly thine from more till hight, and life too full of joy for uttered words.

E-ither am I ungrateful. But I dream Deliciously, how twillight fails to night Over the glimmering water, how the right Dies blissfully away; until I seem To feel the wind sea-sourced on my cheek. To catch the sound of dusky flapring sail, And dip of cars, not writes on the gale, Arar of, calling a filly, low and sweet. 6 Earth, thy murmur song of joy may soar hinging to Hoaven in trimuph! I but crave Thused, caressing murmur of the ways That breaks in tender music on the shore.

TOESTICKS ON PARTURITION AND PUNCHES.

I thought it was a good a wear, a strong swear, a particularly strong swear, but somehow a baby broke it, and it was a very young baby at that—a new edition; in fact the newest edition; in truth, the only edition, in one volume complete, of Muggins. "Duplication of self," that is to say, it was Muggins's first and only baby. Muggins (of course I mean Mrs. Muggins) had the consideration not to have twins—to present the world with Muggins in single doses.

Walking down town the morning after I had sworn off, all clated with the consciousness of having performed a good action, I looked every where with a pitying eye on such of my acquaintances as were still under the thraidom of daily bitters—yet in the toils of the morning cocktail, and had not yet freed themselves from the fatal hold of the "leven o'clocker" the "stomach-quickerer," the "eye opener," or whatever they choose to tree, of the thousand verbal mystifications applied to the morning dram.

choose to ure, of the thousand verbal mystifications applied to the meraing dram.

I was free—never again should I include in the fluid joy of a julep or a punch—the grateful cobbler should never again—but here
I met Muggins; it was Muggins, and yet it was "t Muggins"—Muggius, in form, in feature, in figure, and in dress; but no more like the waste was Muggins, in large again, than a in figure, and in dress; but no more like the usually grave Muggins in demeanor, than a frishy kitten is like a wooden decry duck. He was clate, gay, merry, exultant, jubilant, exhilarated, he caught me by the arm and shook it, as if he had a large bet on shaking off twenty hands in thirty minutes and was just a triffe behind on his nineteenth.

"Me, I. Mary, all of us, Old Doe—last night, nine o'clock, my baby had a wife; my first, no his first, no, her and my, and our first; wife a good deal tetter; baby a good deal expected; no, both are better and both are expected; that is, all my wives and all my babies are a good deal better than could be expected; turse says so. My first, you know; wife never had a nurse; no, my nurse never had a wife; of course, you know what I mean; my waby never had a bife; my nife and the butso, my naby and the wurse.

"But you see I've mixed: I really can't say how, whether my nurse has had a boy, or my wife has had a baby nurse, or the waby has had a nife, or the w—. Well, this is the calm truth—there are in my house a wife, a baby, and a nurse, and I belong to the same establishment myself. With their combined help I have gone and borned a baby; all alive. Came in to Delmonico's and drink a bottle of Mumm's best baby in honor—or of Heidsick's green boy, because, you know in honor of my seal baby—wife—'Here I stopped him, just as two policemen were discussing whether he was pesceable enough to be arrested, or whether he was so dangerous that they ought to let him alone. I got him into the house, and into a corner; before I could stop him, he had yelled to the barkeeper for two bottles of green baby, an order which the barkeeper—who had seen Moggins once before on that day—understeed astered.

Muggins once before on that day—under-stood perfectly, and immediately produced two bottles of green seal Champagne, at $3.50 a bottle.

two bottles of green seal Champagne, at $3.50 a bottle.

I seized Muggins by the collar; I sat Muggins down in the chair; I jammed Muggins down hard, and I held bim there; I put on my severest lock, and did my dignifiedest.

"Muggins," said I, calmly, (and I made my voice come from my first vest-button)—
"Muggins, be calm; Muggins"—here my voice sank to the pit of my stomach—"Muggins, don't be a fool; Muggins, I can't driak any of that wine, because, Muggins"—here my voice solemnly descended to the very soles of my boots—"Per sworn off, Muggins."

He looked at me helplessly, and at last stammered out, faintly:

"But taby, first baby, real boy, no sham, genuine animal, first-class article of baby, head on him, legs all complete: you must—drink—baby."

head on him, legs all complete: you must—drink—baby."

I thought he was going to faint, and I gave him a glass of wine. Exhausted as he was, he had sense enough to refuse to drink, unless I should join him.

What could I do? "The man must be saved; his life must be spared to his wite and baby," I said to the bystanders. I drank; Muggins was saved, and we put him into a cerriage, and sent him home.

Then the fellows who had heard me say that I had sworn off came around, and asked me to drink. I solemnly refused. I told them I had snorn off.

But Jones took me aside, and told me a cu-

But Jones took me saide, and told me a curious but interesting fact, that fact was— Jones, as well as Muggins, was a happy father—so was Mrs. Jones—and as well as could be expected. We drauk to Jones's baby. Gin contail to Jones's baby! Was going home; but Stiggius now said that be had a word to say to me in private.

That word was: "Baby I!"

By a curious coincidence, Mrs. Stiggins, etc. Though I had swarn off, I could do no more than drink to Mrs. Stiggins's speedy recovery. Then I started for the door. Somebody and I should be a started for the door.

Take a drink?"

"Gentiemen," said I, "I've sworn off!"
Robinson, pale and excited, asked for a moment's silence, while he announced some happy intelligence. Need I say the intelli-happy intelligence. Need I say the intelligence was:

"Baby!!!"
Mrs. Robinson, etc., had been and soforthed last night, and Robinson was a happy father. Could I refuse to drink to Robinson's baby? Anyhow, I didn t.

We drank to R.'s B. in beer; then we wined R.'s B.; then we gin cocktailed said haby, then brandy-slinged—I mean brandy-slung—the baby: then, on my suggestion that I must go, for I was going to swear off, we took a parting hot rum and water, all to R.'s B., and Jones's and all the others' B.'s; then I swore off.

then I swore off.
Then Luffky came in hurriedly, to say:

Baby 11!"
We cocktailed Luffky's baby, and beered a sud— at my cost—had a couple of bottles of wine to L.'s B.
Then I swore off. Before I got to the doors— of which there were by this time several—Grimby came in, and proclaimed aloud, in triumph—Baby, you say, of course. Baby ! that's only half—"Twins!!!!"

We drank the twins, brandy, beer, wine, and sherry; then—at my suggestion and expense—we had a bottle or two of green seal to the health of the twins.

Then I awore off.

No I couldn't have sworn off here either;
for I remember cocktailing a boy, and sangareeing a girl, and champagning a lot of mothere happy recoveries after that.

Ob, I know; it was here that Maktarvale leaped upon the table, and howled "Triplots 1111"

We brandy punched those triplets, and mint-juleped the mother to that extent that I really imagined myself in the fashiou, and positively announced that Mrs. D. had made me the happy father of two pairs of twins, consisting of nine girls and a boy. Other fellows came in; never was such a lot of follows, and never had wivel done so much for the census in so short a time. Every fellow announced that his wife had three heirs—four, six, or more; but when Spriggins gravely told us that his wife was the mother of seventy one children, and they'd only been married two years, I remember some of us doubted it, until Spriggins assured us on his honor that it was true.

Then I swore off.

Then I stopped at the Carlton House, and swore off again; then at the St. Nicholas, and took a julep—then I swore off; then I rewore off; then I met somebody; then I took something; then I met somebody; then I took something; then I met something; then I took something; then I wore off; Thorpe's, swore off; Pierce'sswore off; Fifth-avenue Hotel, swore off; and somebody took me home in a carriage, where I scandalized the old maid land-

Pierce's swore off; Fifth avenue Hotel, swore off; and somebody took me home in a carriage, where I scandalized the old maid landlady, who came to the door, by asking her: "How are your twins to-night, Mrs. Jallow?" And when she replied, indignantly, "What do you mean, Mr. Doesticks?" I tried to appease her by saying: "Skuse me, Miss Jallow, I didn't know you'd aworn off!"

Next day, I learned that the whole thing was a conspiracy, and that no bables had been born in my circle of friends, save one, a very, very small one, the sole property of Mr. and Mrs. Moloch Muggins!

Now, I have sworn off.

Now, I have eworn off.

FORTS IN THE DISUNITED STATES.-The Cotton States now hold sixteen of the forts of the South, and the Federal Government has seven. Fortunately, with the exception of Forts Sumter, Moultrie and Pinckney, the sixteen and the seven are so far apart that they can not think of bombarding each other.

London contains a population of nearly 3,000,000 of people, and it increases at the rate of 20,000 per annum. It extends eighteen miles in one direction and ten in another, and it goes on devouring up fields and gardens like a property. dens like a monster.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL

Financial Affairs.
Yesterday disclosed about the same condition of Financial Affairs as prevailed during the past week. Monetary matters were quiet and easy; the Discount-houses doing all the first-class Paper offered by their customers at 16@12 per cent. Their lines have been extended recently, but they are still limited for the season, though the presentation of names is greater now than it was a few days ago.

Eastern Exchange remained firm and unaltered yesterday at 3/2 prem. selling on the leading points, and par on Baltimore; dealers paying % on Philadelphia and New York; 14 on Boston, and 34 dis. on Baltimore. New Orleans Exchange was quiet but steady at 1/2 prem.; one or two dealers refusing to draw better than 34, which is above the market.

Gold continued in rather limited supply and demand, at %@% prem., and Uncurrent Money was unaltered; Western Currency being somewhat heavy at the rate of 6 dis.

erate request, while Whisky continued in good demand at full rates. Wheat, ear Corn, Oats, Rye, and prime Barley were steady; Coffee and Sugar still firm, and Molasses unsettled, as it was last week. Bacon continued in better demand, and sales were made at an advance; holders being stiffer at the close. Mess Pork was in limited request, and in Bulk Meats nothing was done, but they were firmly held.

The following are the Imports and Exports during the forty-eight hours ending yesterday at noon:

day at noon:

Imports—Apples, 266 barrels; Barley, 1,211 bushels; Butter, 109 psckages; Corn. 2,149 bushels; Cheese, 282 boxes; Coffee, 1,652 bags; Cover-seed, 91 barrels; Flour, 2,622 barrels; Hay, 196 bales; Hoga, 25 bead; Lard, 122 barrels and 366 kegs; Molasses, 3,133 barrels; Oate, 2,247 bushels; Pork and Bacon, 15 bhds., 592 barrels, and 107,144 pounds; Potatoes, 439 barrels; Sagar, 847 hhds.; Salt, 448 barrels; Wheat, 2,758 bushels; Whisky, 996 brls.

Wbisky, 996 brls.

Exports—Apples, 299 barrels; Barley, 634 bushels; Butter, 78 packages; Candles, 1,852 boxes; Corn, 10,492 bush.; Cheese, 107 boxes; Coffee, 476 bags; Clover-seed, 322 barrels; Flour, 2,516 barrels; Høy, 123 bales; Lard, 477 barrels and 213 kegs; Molasses, 114 brls; Malt, 3,256 bushels; Oats, 5,666 bush.; Pork and Bacon, 416 hbds., 406 tierces, 1,310 barrels, 495 boxes and 54,731 pounds; Potatoes, 602 barrels; Sugar, 87 hbds.; Salt, 24 barrels; Wheat, 762 bushels; Whisky, 3,115 barrels.

Yesterday's Louisville Courier says of Saturday's Provision Market: On Saturday the market was again dull, and although holders were willing to make concessions, buyers were not inclined to purchase above immediate wants, and the sales were again limited, amounting to only 155 bris, city mess at $17, and 700 bris, country packed, in different lots, at $16 75@17. We are confident that the stock of Provisions in this and adioning States is much less in the sand adioning States is much less.

There was a small inquiry for Bulk Meats, with sales at 6c. for Shoulders and 8½c. for Rib Sides. Lard is quiet, with a small inquiry at 8½c. for No. 1 and 9½c. for prime. The jobbers are filling orders at 7½c. for Shoulders; 10c. for plain Hams, and 11c. for carvased sugar cured; 9½c for Rib Sides, and 10½@lic for Clear Sides; 10c. for Lard in tierees and 10½c. for kegs. in tierces and 10%c. for kegs.

go by the steamer City of Baltimore, closing at the postoffice at half-past ten o'clock, A. M. We report a firmer and higher market for Ex-change for this opportunity, with an advanc-ing tendency on both Merchant and Bankers' ing tendency on both Merchant and Bankers' Bills. The standard drawers among the Banking-houses early this forenoon did business on London at 105½ per cent., but subsequently advanced their rate to 105¾ @ 106 per cent. All transient Bills, of First class Credit, were sought for at 105¼ @ 105½ per cent., and the market altogether promised, at the close, another rise of ½ per cent. for the next mail. On Paris, the terms are f. 5.40@f. 5.37½.

The employment of Money at Bank on

f. 5.40@f. 5.27%.

The employment of Money at Bank on Mercantile Paper is about steady at 7 per cent, per annum; the decrease in the general line of Losus and Discount having been arrested for the present, although the heavy Banks find it difficult to keep up their average on the best class of Paper. The consequence is that Money is being lent, at call, on a pledge of Treasury-bills at 5 per cent, and on other approved Stock collateral at 6 per cent.
